As discussed attached is the New Zealand regulation which will take effect 16 December 1990. Concerns include:

- Identification by brand name the quantity of "tobacco and every other additive used in the manufacture" [of tobacco products].
- Is the procedure listed for testing tar and nicotine levels in agreement with the method we supported in ISO?

All further attempts to have discussions with government in New Zealand have failed; we have not been able; therefore, to put forth the two suggestions identified in Phil's memo of 19 November.
